INTRODUCTION

The titles included in this list of books were suggested by the teachers of classes for exceptionally talented students in North Carolina. The information was collected by asking each teacher named in the Directory of Teaching Personnel to list three (3) books that she considered best for her exceptionally talented classes, that she would not recommend for regular classes. We are very grateful to these teachers for their help.

The books are classified by subject matter areas and grade levels (2-6), (7-8), and (9-12). Though only a few books are listed in some specific areas, the listings in other areas can be used to expand the students range of reading interests. The readings selected by experienced teachers should have more value than readings that would be chosen by less-well-informed students.

A list of professional material recommended by our staff is included at the end. Copies of the mimeographed material in this list are available from our office on request.

Gene Burnette, Director
Section for the Education of Exceptionally Talented Children
